A House of Prayer for All People

By John Dixon

In 1987 when my wife, Ninfa, and I were called as missionaries to the Spanish Episcopal Church little did we know that the Lord would have us plant a church that would be a "house of prayer for all nations (Isaiah 56:7)." We should have had some inkling when our first baptism was a young man from the central African nation of Gabon. Felix was studying at the University of Madrid and living in Móstoles near us because it was cheaper. His village in Gabon had no Christian church and he knew nothing about Christ. A professor from the Ivory Coast at the University of Madrid witnessed to him about the Lord.

After Felix entered our fellowship, a constant stream of people from all over the world came to our church. I have counted people from 31 countries touched by this ministry. Most Sundays, at least 10 to 15 countries are represented in the congregation. Our congregation used to be 85 percent

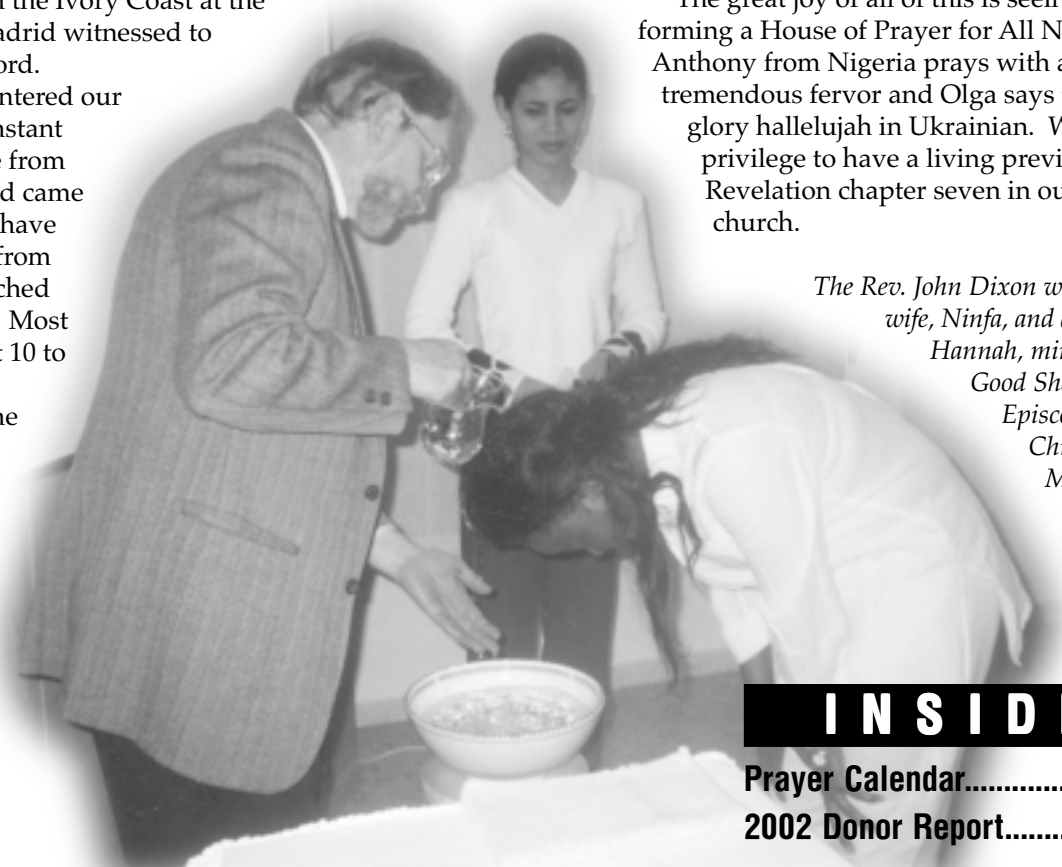

Spanish but now is about 65 percent Spanish. In one year alone, 100,000 Ecuadorans have come to Madrid. Every day five planeloads of Colombians arrive.

There are thousands of Romanians, Poles, Russians, Africans and Moroccans. They often come destitute with only the clothes on their backs. Even though many are highly educated, they are forced to take the low paying jobs no one else wants. The needs are overwhelming. Last year our church passed out 2,000 pounds of food.

The great joy of all of this is seeing God forming a House of Prayer for All Nations. Anthony from Nigeria prays with a tremendous fervor and Olga says the glory hallelujah in Ukrainian. What a privilege to have a living preview of Revelation chapter seven in our own church.
